STUDENTS OF JOURNALISM AND INTERNATIONAL AFFAIRS
July 1 – 21, 2018

RIAS Berlin Program for Students of Journalism and International Affairs

Program Application - Introduction

CALL FOR APPLICATIONS

U.S. university students are invited to apply for a three-week intensive study program on journalism and international relations in Germany. Funded largely by a grant from the German government and organized by the RIAS Berlin Commission, up to 15 outstanding journalism or international studies students will be invited to take part in the three-week program in Germany to learn more about journalism in Germany, the role that broadcasters like the Berlin-based RIAS played during the Cold War and the current political landscape of Germany.

The RIAS BERLIN COMMISSION was founded 1992 in recognition of the merits of RIAS Berlin (Radio in the American Sector), the “free voice of the free world” from 1946 to 1993 that provided millions of listeners in communist East Germany with uncensored information and entertainment. Today, the RIAS BERLIN COMMISSION is a binational organization that promotes German-American understanding in broadcast journalism.

Beginning in 2018, the RIAS BERLIN COMMISSION will be offering exceptional students of journalism, international affairs and related disciplines the opportunity to participate in this prestigious program in Berlin. Students from across the US are encouraged to apply.

Over a three week period in Berlin, with excursions to other German cities, participants will meet with leading political analysts, journalists, think tank representatives and other experts. They will visit German government institutions, historical sites, and universities, to deepen their knowledge of central issues in transatlantic affairs and gain a more personal understanding of German politics, media and history.

Program applicants must be outstanding, full-time undergraduate or graduate students of journalism, international affairs, political science, history, German or closely related disciplines at universities and colleges in the United States. They should be starting at least the third year of their undergraduate studies at the time of the program and preferably have some experience in journalism – for example at a campus radio or TV station or newspaper. An interest in and knowledge of German or European affairs is very desirable; knowledge of German is preferred but not required. Students who have already gained some professional or volunteer experience in their field are strongly encouraged to apply.

RIAS Berlin Program for Students of
Journalism and International Affairs

Program Application - Introduction

The program is funded by the Transatlantic Program of the Government of the Federal Republic of Germany, with additional financing from the RIAS BERLIN COMMISSION. Participants receive round trip air travel from their home states to Germany, ground and air travel in and across Germany, and hotel accommodations during the program. Some meals are also provided during the program. Participants will leave the US no later than June 30th and return no sooner than on July 21st. They may arrive earlier or leave later than these dates, but must cover any additional costs themselves. Each participant will be required to contribute EUR 500 and must pay for their own meals.

PROGRAM DATES & DEADLINES

July 1 – 21, 2018. Participants depart from the US on June 30 and return on July 21.
Application deadline: February 15, 2018. Leading applicants will be interviewed by Skype or Facetime before the final selection of program participants is made in early March.
